Ele's Place is a healing center for grieving children, providing peer support groups for children who are coping with the death or life-threatening illness of a parent, sibling or other loved one. Before coming to Ele's Place, these children are devastated by their loss and often keep their feelings inside, not wanting to burden their grieving family or share with friends who don't understand if they haven't had a similar situation. They feel very alone until they come to Ele's Place, where approximately 250 children meet each week with new friends who really understand how they feel. In addition, almost 150 grieving children this year will connect with each other in their schools through our Ele's Group school-based program. Ele's Place also educates the community about children's grief issues and acts as a resource and referral agency. All services are provided at no charge.
